Tranquil way to see the Mekong

04 Jun 2019

Took a two night cruise from Can Tho (starts and ends there) on the rivers and canals of the Mekong Delta. It is a wonderful experience. My favorite part was just sitting and watching the boats on the river, life on the shore, and the storms come in. We had several shore excursions, but some were cut short or cancelled because of heavy rain storms. We had cooking lessons on board instead. The crew is excellent and attentive, but not intrusive. The food was Vietnamese, which I loved. But let the crew know ahead of time if you have dislikes or dietary restrictions. One person did not like coriander (cilantro), which is a common ingredient in Vietnam. They are extremely accommodating to dietary restrictions. There were people with celiac and vegetarians who got special dishes. I look forward to returning to Vietnam and taking a longer trip on one of their cruises.

Highly Recommended

Did not know what to expect when we booked a two night cruise but glad we did. Very relaxing after busy Saigon, great scenery, fantastic service by the crew and guides. Can not fault the food and drinks on board. If you want to see the Mekong I would highly recommend it and will be coming back for a longer cruise for sure.

We stayed one night doing the delta cruise on the Mekong Eyes boat. The staff were incredibly well organized, friendly and helpful. The food on board was really good and it was a comfortable, interesting and very relaxing cruise. We would have liked to have done the 3 night cruise as we were so impressed.

Amazing experience with Mekong Eye

20 Feb 2019

Fantastic with low heart rate and many experiences, we was a group of 10 (4 adults and children from 5-19 years). The meals tasted wonderful and became a culinary experience. The tours ashore gave us many experiences and a lot of knowledge about life in Vietnam. Visit to farms, water market, caramel factory, junglewalks and local market among other things. The rooms were small and charming. Remember mosquito repellent!
